digital tax administration

Having people spend hours or even a whole day filing tax returns creates an enormous drag on everyone's resources. In countries that have adopted electronic tax filing, the process can take just 5 minutes, or even less.

The Digital Tax Administration concept extends far beyond easy filing. It can involve entirely replacing an existing tax system, introducing new processes and work concepts such as tax intelligence and risk management.

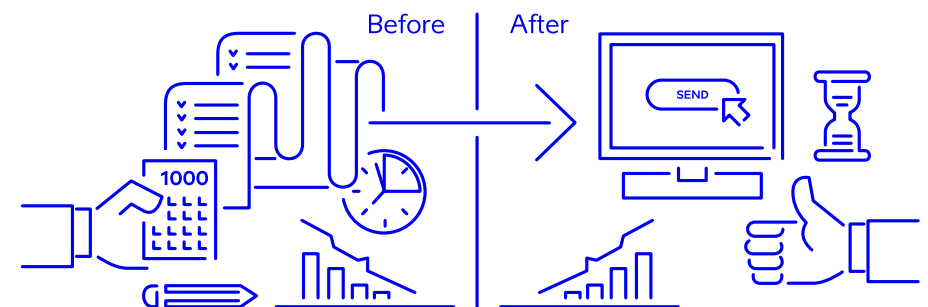

Introducing DTA will help build a smarter and more efficient tax organization that makes better decisions.
